

A NOTE FROM THEO AND WARREN

The JSE is going through a drop that is caused by falling international markets that are reacting to political uncertainty, especially in Asia and Europe. This has resulted in the SA stock market falling while the rand has weakened slightly. This is likely to be a difficult time for investors and we suggest your best protection is proper diversification of your assets across shares, property, bonds and cash. In addition, please ensure that your offshore allocation is at the correct amount for your financial position as we feel investors should use the current strength of the rand to send money overseas where appropriate. If you are not sure what your offshore allocation should be, please speak to your financial planner.
